And I say that life is indeed darkness save when there is urge,
And all urge is blind save when there is knowledge,
And all knowledge is vain save when there is work,
And all work is empty save when there is love,
And when you work with love, you bind yourself to yourself, and to one another, and to God.—Kahlil Gibran.

TO NEW AND OLD FRIENDS

Already the air is thrilling with anticipation for the year to come. One by one the old friends are drifting back, and new friends are appearing. The International Students House seems alive again with the hearty greetings of those of us who have been away during the summer months, and glows with the warmth of cordial welcome to those who have just come to Philadelphia.

Everything is set for a lively year. We send this preliminary word of greeting to old and new alike, and look forward to meeting you in person at the opening reception on September 30th. Be sure and come.

STUDENTS COUNCIL

The election to the Students Council of representatives of the various organized groups ought to be made by October 15th. As soon as your representative is elected, kindly inform Mr. Thompson.
SUNDAY SUPPER CLUB

The Sunday Supper Club proved such a success last Spring that we are going to organize early and continue through the academic year. The first meeting will be held on October 30th. Further notice will be given later, but we want you to reserve the supper hour each Sunday night from six until seven-thirty o’clock for this get-together of students. Remember, this is the one time when we get together as a family.

DONATIONS TO THE BAZAAR

Due to the fact of our limited accommodations, and also to the great number of students who have articles for sale, it has not seemed feasible to invite a general display of these articles at the Bazaar, much as we desire to co-operate in helping students to dispose of their articles. Many students in the past, however, have donated articles to the Womans Hospitality Committee for sale at the Bazaar, the proceeds to be used for the work of the International Students House. If any students have such articles which they wish to contribute, we shall be glad to receive them. Communicate with Mrs. Reber or Mr. Thompson.

We are very anxious to complete our files as soon as possible, in order that we may get in touch with all the old and new students without delay. Please see that we have your correct address, and that of your friends at the earliest possible moment.

JAPANESE STUDENTS CLUB

There is ever reason to hope that the coming year will see the Japanese Students Club of Philadelphia making a successful contribution toward international friendship and the spirit of co-operation, because we have sixteen old members back and nine new ones, to whom we give our hearty welcome.

The first meeting will be held early in October, at which time we will outline plans for 1927-28.

KOREJI KODAMA, President.

CHINESE STUDENTS CLUB

The Philadelphia Chinese Students Club wishes to extend sincere greetings to all the readers of this Bulletin. We wish them every success in the coming year in their different lines of endeavor.

We were very reluctant early this summer to bid farewell to so many of our friends who have endeared themselves to us as well as to others through their untiring efforts to contribute to the welfare of the House. We are sure, however, that their places will be well filled by our new friends, to whom particularly we must repeat our greetings. We stand ready at all times to do our bit in promoting the spirit and fellowship of this House, that has already carried itself to the far corners of the earth.

B. C. CHEN, President.
L'ACADEMIE COSMOPOLITE

To have been elected once again to the Presidency of L'Academie has been a great pleasure to me personally, and I trust that during the coming year we may be enabled to carry into practice more perfectly than heretofore the ideals for which the Club was originally founded. Washington Irving once wrote that it was desirable to make the journey from one country to another by way of the sea, because the peaceful solitude of the ocean cleansed the mind of prejudice and left it open to appraise impartially the varying qualities of a strange people. And here at sea I feel more than ever before that L'Academie Cosmopolite has a real task to perform in bringing together in one Club the students of many different nations. But your President cannot accomplish that difficult task without the aid of every member of the group, and if we are to succeed in achieving our ideals the co-operation of all members must be sincere and spontaneous from the very start of the year. Let us work together then, and work seriously.

At the opening of another academic year, may I extend to those in charge of the International House the good wishes of all the members and officers of L'Academie Cosmopolite and the earnest hope that this next year may be even more fruitful in the cause of international friendship than have those whose passage has enriched all of us with many cherished memories. To those who come amongst us for the first time, we bid a sincere and cordial welcome and trust that they may find at the International House something which will help them to look back on the years at Pennsylvania with an even greater joy.

F. CYRIL JAMES, President.

FILIPINO STUDENTS CLUB

The Filipino Club wishes to extend a hearty welcome to the newly arrived students. We also extend a sincere greeting to all our friends who will be with us this year. The Club aims to co-operate with the House and the Committees to the fullest extent, with a view of extending the scope of the work we have heretofore undertaken. We also hope that the other national groups will again co-operate with us in promoting a better understanding and international fraternalism.

Activities of the Club were temporarily suspended during the Summer, as the majority of the members were away. The first regular meeting this Fall will take place at the International House on October 16th, at 2.30 P. M. Many matters of vital importance will be discussed and 100% attendance of members is expected. New students are also invited.

We are looking forward to a bigger and better year of increased activity and usefulness.

M. A. ERANA, President.

GERMAN STUDENTS CLUB

Another Summer has gone. Fall is here and nature is painting herself for a last show of vanity—a symphony of colors. Only a short while and the wind will come tearing this harmony into pieces—play for the winds—beauty scattered over the countryside—then death.

But the death of nature is the rebirth of our spirits and with it the call for our reunion at the International Students House. We German students have to learn from the world. It is ours to do now while we are young and have the opportunity to learn in the school of international friendship. In learning and giving we become ambassadors of a better Germany. Let us then be examples of good understanding and of good fellowship.

We are without trace of our members and we ask every German student to communicate with Heinz Eckert, 211 South 42nd Street—telephone, Evergreen 0232
—giving him his present address and the addresses of his German student friends.

The next meeting of the Club will be on Friday, October 7th, at 7.00 P. M., at the International Students House. We hope everyone will attend and co-operate with us.

HEINZ ECKERT, President.

SOUTH AMERICAN STUDENTS CLUB

From a sentiment of co-operation and solidarity, we have formed the South American Students Club, under the auspices of Mr. Thompson, Director of the International Students House. As students of South America, we wish to bend our efforts toward that vital principle of the conservation of peace which has been manifested in the tendency of all countries to create fruitful relationship between the nations.

We wish to work increasingly for all those measures that draw the American nations toward a closer association, utilizing such mental, moral and material contacts as characterize each nation, which will bring about the formation of a collective soul.

The dogma of our South American Students Club shall be to offer the generous hand of friendship to all the peoples of the earth, convinced that if it is really true that order and internal peace repose on the truth “that hatred is barren and that only love is fertile”, this truth acquires the character and firmness of a dogma in international relations. “Love alone is the creative force.”

FERNANDO CABRERA, Acting President.
