QUALIFICATIONS.

I. No person shall be admitted as a candidate for the degree of doctor of medicine, until he shall have attained the age of twenty-one years, nor unless he shall have applied himself to the study of medicine three years, two of which shall have been in this university, nor unless he shall have attended one course of elemental instruction either in the Pennsylvania hospital, the city alms-house, or in some other suitable place, at the discretion of the Medical Faculty; and also have attended the practice, and been the private pupil of some respectable practitioner.

II. No person shall be admitted as a candidate for a degree, unless he shall have regularly attended two complete courses of the lectures of

- The professor of anatomy.
- The professor of the institutes and the practice of physic and of clinical medicine.
- The professor of surgery.
- The professor of materia medica.
- The professor of chemistry.
- The professor of midwifery.

III. Each candidate for the degree of doctor of medicine, shall, on or before the 10th of March of the year in which he offers himself as a candidate, and one week before the time appointed for his examination, deliver to the dean a thesis, of his own composing, on some medical subject, which subject shall have been approved of by the professors. The candidate shall then be examined privately by the professors upon the various branches of medicine and upon his thesis, in the presence of such of the trustees as may choose to attend, notice of the time of examination having been previously given to them. If he be found qualified, he shall be reported by the dean to the provost, who shall communicate such report to the trustees, in order that, if approved of by them, their mandamus may he issued for conferring the degree, at such time as they may judge expedient; but no degree shall be conferred unless ordered by a mandamus, signed by thirteen trustees.

IV. The thesis may be published, if the candidate desire it, the permission of the professors by whom he was examined thereon having been first obtained, but no alteration therein shall be made after such permission shall have been given; and a copy of the thesis shall be deposited by the candidate composing it in the university library, before the degree shall be conferred.

V. Students who have attended one complete course in a respectable school, where the attendance on two complete courses is necessary to a degree, and where the same branches are taught as in this, may become candidates for a degree, after attending one complete course.
DEGREE OF MASTER OF PHARMACY.

I. May be conferred on such persons exercising or intending to exercise the profession of an apothecary, as are and shall be qualified duly to receive the same.

II. Every person who shall have served a regular apprenticeship of at least three years with a respectable apothecary, or master of pharmacy, and who shall exercise or intend to exercise the profession of an apothecary, may, on application to the board of trustees, obtain the degree of master of pharmacy; provided he shall produce a certificate of the faculty of medicine, signed by the dean thereof, of his being qualified to receive the same, which certificate the faculty may grant, on the attestation of the professors of chemistry, materia medica and pharmacy, who shall have examined the candidate, and upon being satisfied of his good moral character.

III. To obtain such degree the candidate shall have attended at least two courses of lectures on chemistry, materia medica, and pharmacy in this university.

GRATUITOUS TICKETS.

I. A committee of the Trustees shall give public notice before each course of lectures, that applications will be received for the gratuitous admission of six students, whose circumstances may not enable them to pay the expenses of admission to said lectures. The committee shall, on the first Monday in September, of each year, examine and determine upon such applications as shall be made to them, and as soon thereafter as convenient, shall distribute the proper tickets to such applicants as they may approve, and give notice thereof to the dean of the medical faculty. Applications must be accompanied by respectable testimonials of good moral character, and that the applicants are in such restricted circumstances in life as to be proper objects of the gratuity, that they have attained the age of eighteen years, and that they are possessed of sufficient literary acquirements and of studious habits.

THE WISTAR MUSEUM.

The anatomical museum presented to the trustees by the family of the late professor of anatomy, Dr. Caspar Wistar, shall be styled "The Wistar Museum."
